A SUMMARY OF KEY POINTS – THIS SHOULD BE USED AS A BRIEF TRAINING GUIDE FOR NEW MANAGERS AND DOES NOT IN ANY WAY REPLACE THE ‘MANAGEMENT OF SICKNESS ABSENCE POLICY AND GUIDANCE’ ISSUED IN 2012.
The majority of discussions will be informal and brief. However, they should still be undertaken and it is worth making a brief note of the ground covered on the return to work meeting record. (See Policy and Guidance Appendix A1.3)

Checklist of what you need to think about

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tick</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• The member of staff’s attendance record: have everything to hand.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Confirm all relevant documentation completed and medical certificate and SC1 received.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• What type of questions you will ask. Open questions that give the member of staff the chance to talk freely are best. For example “How do you feel about being back at work?” may be better than “Are you happy to be back at work?” (See sample questions over)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• How the employee feels. Pick up clues by actively listening to what they say, making connections between the various points they make and seeking clarification.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Be positive about the member of staff’s value to the organisation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Your body language – show interest with appropriate nods, smiles and reassurance.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Think about how you would respond to a request for flexible work, or any other adjustments. (See Policy and Guidance 4.4.6)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Be prepared to discuss the member of staff’s absence in detail.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• If the member of staff is returning from a period of long term sickness plan a “getting back to work” programme. (See Policy and Guidance 4.4.6)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Update the member of staff about any changes since they have been away – like progress on any jobs they were working on, changes to the team etc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Finally, what are the options for the future? Discuss all the options and focus on positive outcomes. Where appropriate the member of staff may agree to be referred to Occupational Health. (See Policy and Guidance 5) In some instances you might have to take disciplinary action in you are unhappy with the explanations for the absences or poor timekeeping. Have an open mind, agree a shared action plan where possible but don’t make any hasty decisions at the meeting. (See Policy and Guidance Appendix C) You may wish to contact your HR Adviser for further information.</td>

ABSENCE TRIGGERS (SEE POLICY AND GUIDANCE 4.6)

A more formal review by the manager/supervisor may be ‘triggered’ by any of the following: a pattern of sickness absence which causes concern, frequent short term absences or long term absence. Please note that these triggers offer guidance and that managers/supervisors should exercise discretion in this regard.

Long term absence is defined as an equivalent period of 20 or more working days continuous sickness absence in any period of 12 months.

Short term absences are measured using the Bradford Score. The higher the Bradford Score, the greater the number of short term sickness absences. A Bradford Score of 128 or above within the previous 12 month period will act as a trigger for the manager to undertake a more formal review. Note: The Bradford Score does not replace the continuous management review of sickness absence and is not the only measure to trigger concerns about sickness absence. See online Bradford Score Calculator.

The Bradford Score is calculated using the formula:

\[ S \times S \times D = B \]

Where
- \( S \) = number of spells of absence taken by an individual in 52 weeks
- \( D \) = number of days of absence taken by that individual in 52 weeks
- \( B \) = the Bradford Score

For example:

- 10 one-day absences: \( 10 \times 10 \times 10 = 1,000 \)
- 1 ten-day absence: \( 1 \times 1 \times 10 = 10 \)
- 4 two-day absences: \( 4 \times 4 \times 8 = 128 \)
- 2 four-day absences: \( 2 \times 2 \times 8 = 32 \)
- 1 one-day absence, 2 two-day absences, 1 three-day absence = 128
- \( 4 \times 4 \times 8 = 128 \)
